Happenings in World on Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An answer to the shortened flight of Gemini 8 came during the weekend.

Space agency officials said a short circuit probably caused a small maneuvering rocket to run wild, sending Gemini 8 and its two astronauts into a harrowing spin.

The officials said a 25-pound thruster suddenly went full blast when the spacecraft was linked up with the Agena rocket. The astronauts were forced to undock, shut off the maneuvering system and use a secondary system normally used for the critical re-entry process.

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott landed safely in the Pacific. They arrived back in Cape Kennedy Saturday.

The weekend brought word of another puzzler.

Large, mysterious structures have been spotted in the countryside near Moscow and Leningrad. Indications are the Soviet Union is installing a defense system against intercontinental missiles.

Other International developments over the weekend:

A new two-year agreement was signed Saturday between the United States and the Soviet Union, continuing the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program at about the same level as in the past.

A U.S. Navy task force began operations off Palomares Beach, Spain, to nudge a 20-megaton bomb, located 2,500 feet down in the Mediterranean, into a more favorable place for recovery.

At home, citizens got the word they will pay more for five special postal services, starting Saturday. These include money order, registry, C.O.D., insurance and certified mail services.

Informed guesses in Washington were that taxpayers this year may find their income tax boosted by about $5 for every $100 they now pay.

President Johnson sent Congress a plan to double spending on water research in the next five years. This would include studying such ideas as watering Southern California by towing in arctic icebergs.

In Detroit, Mayor Jerome Cavanagh confirmed an open secret that he would battle G. Mennen Williams for the Democratic nomination for a U.S. Senate seat from Michigan.

And the swallows of San Juan Capistrano, Calif., true to form produced their annual puzzler. Thousands of the birds flew into nests on the walls of the old mission at San Juan Capistrano Saturday just as they have on all but a few St. Joseph's Days since 1776. But just how they arrive on the same day remains a mystery.

Don't Blame Fat Man for Being Fat

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nagging wives and harping husbands have lost perhaps the best weapon in the calorie-counting standoff because now, a psychiatrist says, you can't blame a fat man for being fat.

The old ideas that people get fat because they're lazy or nervous or have bad glands are superficial, even if partly true, said Dr. A. J. Enelow, professor of psychiatry at the University of Southern California.

"People get fat for all those reasons, and for a great many more," Enelow said at a symposium on obesity.

He said some other causes are emotional and some are even a matter of social class.

For example, he said, obesity appears to be most common

Americans Lose 6 More Planes Over Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Six more U. S. planes were reported lost today in the widening American air operations over North and South Viet Nam, and a U. S. spokesman said two of the fliers were killed, two were captured and two missing.

The Strategic Air Command marked its 20th anniversary by sending its Guam-based B52s over the Communist D-Zone stronghold 35 miles north of Saigon to round escape routes in the jungle leading toward Cambodia.

While U. S. planes roared through the skies above and below the 17th Parallel, South Vietnamese forces reported killing more than 225 Viet Cong in two actions, and more than 1,000 U. S. Marines battled the Communists 400 miles north of Saigon. The Marines reported at least 34 Viet Cong killed in the early stages of the battle.

Government troops killed 100 Communists in a stiff fight at Vo Pu, a rice producing area 75 miles north of Saigon that was liberated recently by the U. S. 173rd Airborne Brigade and the Vietnamese 10th Division.

A government spokesman said the Communists tried unsuccessfully to recapture the area three weeks ago and came back in force again Sunday. Again they were beaten back and left 100 bodies behind, the spokesman said.

Government forces killed another 129 Viet Cong in a battle in the central highlands 150 miles northeast of Saigon, a spokesman said. The heavy fighting 30 miles east of Ban Me Thuot erupted Sunday on the second day of an operation by Vietnamese army units trying to cut up a large Communist force reported in the jungled mountains.

among poorer persons and least common among the wealthy. And, he explained, the reasons are found in two words, carbohydrates and fashion.

The poorer folks, Enelow said, consume more starch than their more fortunate brethren, whose diets show greater variety.

A more important reason, he said, is the feeling for fashion.

"It is probably only a slight exaggeration to say that what would seem to be unattractively fat in San Marino (a wealthy suburb) would seem only a rather pleasant plumpness in some other parts of the Los Angeles area," he declared.

Enelow said fat persons generally are:

Markedly sensitive.

Victims of easily diminished self-esteem.

Unable to stand much pain, physical or emotional.

Subject to stronger than normal craving for love and reassurance.

Subject to strong tendencies to withdraw socially.

Dependent, sometimes, on their families and physicians who treat them.

Doctors who use a great amount of supportive psychology while treating obese people are unusually successful, he said, but "the impersonal and detached doctor is unlikely to be successful with these patients."

Speedy Action on Weapons Bill Predicted

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hoped for speedy approval today of the administration's $13.1-billion appropriation bill that would provide more weapons and manpower for the Viet Nam war.

No major policy battles — similar to those that erupted when Congress debated legislation authorizing the war funds — were expected to break out, but some hitches may develop.

The Senate is considering making some minor amendments in the bill which would require House approval. The House passed the measure last week by a 389-3 vote.

The funds would be added to defense spending for the current fiscal year. Funds for fiscal 1967, starting July 1, are the subject of hearings now going on in the House and Senate.

Besides bolstering the armed services, the bill includes $415 million in economic aid. About $275 million of the aid money is earmarked for South Viet Nam.

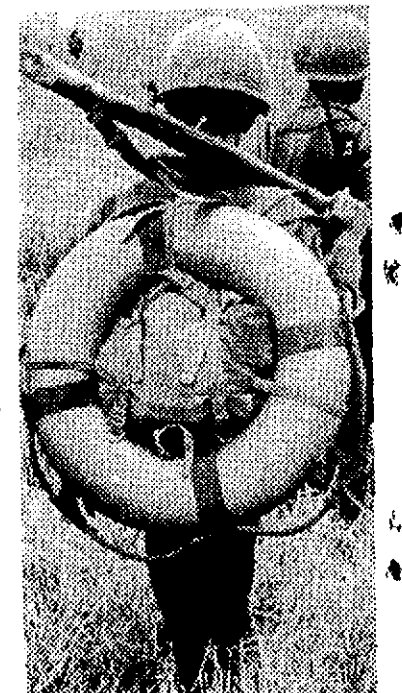

The money bill is the major item on the calendar of both the House and Senate this week. Most of the Johnson legislative program is still in the hands of various committees.

One minor item may touch off a hot fight in the House. The bill would authorize $750,000 for an official residence for the vice president and Republicans are massing forces against it. With rising costs and the threat of inflation, they say, the administration should economize.

The bill was on the calendar last week, but Speaker John W. McCormack withdrew it without explanation. It is to come up again Tuesday.

Bills to authorize funds for the Coast Guard, to reimburse federal employees for certain moving expenses and to provide airlift to armed services post offices make up the rest of the week's light calendar for both houses.

Committee action continues at a full pace. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee will hear more from experts on Communist China and the Joint Economic Committee will resume its examination of the economy and the possible need for tax increases.

Fabrics Glamorize Daybeds

By Aileen Snoddy
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Who says daybeds have to be ugly? The fact that they are becoming a glamorous and integral part of a well-decorated room was heightened by designs shown during the Chicago home furnishings market this winter.

As one manufacturer put it, "The utilitarian use is so fixed now in consumers' minds that style details are taking over." These include dressmaker details, finials on corners, plush crushed velvet and new lush corduroys.

Quality of mechanisms and mattresses has improved so much that most shoppers look at the design and upholstery of a convertible sleep unit more than before.

However, those in the market for such a piece of furniture should not hesitate to check the bed mechanism in the store before being swayed by the handsome fabric and design of the sleep unit. Such an item also should be comfortable for seating and sleeping.

Fashion in convertible beds, studio divans and daybeds, though, is the big news this year.

This is encouraging for the young couple or the bachelor girl who decorates the initial home-away-from-home with limited funds. The new apartment also may be as limited in space as the bank account.

Although the earth tones, tweeds and checked fabrics are available in convertible covers, the eye-catching floral prints, Spanish grille motifs and colonials help turn a sleeping piece such as a daybed into an island of color in a small room.

The florals, especially, are great fun to live with and this season come in all-over patterns with startling but livable color combinations. Some of these have red, pink or make decisions on which their lives may depend.

ABC has come to two big decisions. It will have "The Green Hornet," an adventure series played straight instead of for laughs, on its Friday night schedule next season. And it has decided to put its big expensive experiment in anthology entertainment, "Stage 66" into the 10-11 p.m. EST Wednesday spot. Earlier, the network had thought of scattering the programs, which range from original book musicals and dramas to biographical studies, all through its schedule as if they were weekly specials.

With all three networks unexpectedly devoting themselves to the Gemini 8 story Wednesday night, their "reward" was thousands of complaining telephone calls from viewers annoyed at not being able to see their favorite programs.

Marries Again for Legal Purposes

LONDON (AP)—Singer Dick Haymes gets married for the sixth time today—but it's only to clear up the legal tangles caused by his divorce from his fourth wife.

He will marry in a civil ceremony his fifth wife, Wendy Smith.

Haymes had divorced singer Fran Jeffries, his fourth wife, in Mexico, then married Miss Smith, 28, in January 1965. But neither Britain or Ireland—Haymes' home—recognized the divorce or the marriage.

Now American divorce papers recognized by the two countries have come through and the civil ceremony is to set everything straight.

Haymes, 48, a native of Argentina, has been married to actresses Rita Hayworth, Joanne Dru and Nora Eddington.

Daybeds are back. These very convenient snooze beds evolved from a type of chaise longue made in 1680-1780. Modern versions feature deep cushioning of urethane foam for sitting and sleeping comfort. Daybed with bolsters shown here is brightened by the very "in" combination of varied print fabrics. Bolsters and draperies are color co-ordinated but of a different floral design following current trends.

black backgrounds with green, gold and sky blue flowers or just multicombinations of tones from the same color family.

Very high style is the two-fabric look, according to a stylist for Englander Co. This features two designs of similar patterns in the same colors on one piece of furniture.

Decorators have been using this method to introduce and control pattern in a room. One interior designer suggests that a pattern such as a boldly colored, large check or oversized floral be used on one wall or on one large unit such as a floral covered day-

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's hiatus time in Hollywood, that happy vacation period when television stars earn the loot their fame can bring or else rest up for the rigors of next season.

Within the next few weeks, virtually all the filmed series will finish up their 1965-66 seasons. Those that have been renewed will take a breather—as little as three weeks for hour shows or as much as three months for the half-hours.

Here's how some of the stars will spend their hiatuses: The two U.N.C.L.E. agents will be making movies in Italy: Robert Vaughn in "The Venetian Affair" and David McCallum in "Three Bites of the Apple."

Jim Nabors of "Gomer Pyle" and pal Lee Majors of "Big Valley" plan three weeks in Jamaica together. Then Jim returns to star at Harrah's, Lake Tahoe. Lee will undergo surgery to correct a nose broken accidentally by Linda Evans in a "Big Valley" scene.

Robert Conrad, "Wild, Wild West," has been booked for a visit to Japan, where he is doubly popular. His CBS show and "Hawaiian Eye" are both playing on Japanese television.

Picking up the night club loot are Don Adams, "Get Smart," and Mike London, "Bonanza." Mike's fellow Cartwrights will be visiting Europe—Loren Greene on a tour with his wife, Dan Blocker to see his twin daughters who attend school in Greece.

Other movie makers: The "Batman" bunch, who will be making a feature about the masked marvel; David Janssen, "The Fugitive," in Paramount's "The Warning Shot"; Dean Martin in another Matt Helm epic.

Three of the "Laredo" boys—Phil Carey, Bill Smith and Peter Brown—have organized an act to play the Louisiana and other state fairs. Ken Curtis and Milburn Stone of "Gunsmoke" will be on the rodeo circuit, as will Peter Breck of "Big Valley."

The theater is calling Eddie Albert, "Green Acres," who will play "Music Man" in West Covina, Calif., and St. Louis; and Forrest Tucker, who will appear in "Never Too Late" in Chicago.

Some folks are simply going to vacation. Elizabeth Montgomery "Bewitched," plans to visit her famous father Robert Montgomery in the East. Likewise Elfreem Zimbalist Jr., "The FBI" who will see the senior Zimbalist in Philadelphia. And Werner Klemperer, "Hogan's Heroes," is going to Europe to visit his father, conductor Otto Klemperer.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

The Hectic Life

Dear Helen: I hope you have space to print a little squib I read in our local paper and comment. It goes:

"If you are a parent & figure you have to do more than your share of driving, listen to this Saturday schedule for a San Antonio mother of three daughters:

8:15 a.m. Take first daughter to studio for modeling lesson.

8:45 a.m. Take second daughter to same studio for modeling lesson and pick up first daughter.

9:00 a.m. Take first daughter to another studio for baton twirling lesson.

9:15 a.m. Pick up second daughter after modeling lesson.

9:30 a.m. Go get first daughter who has been at baton twirling lesson.

10:30 a.m. Take third daughter, plus first and second daughter all the way across town for dancing lessons, which run into the lunch hour.

2:30 p.m. Take second daughter to studio for voice lesson.

2:45 p.m. Take third daughter to teacher for piano lesson.

3:00 p.m. Pick up second daughter at voice studio and drop off first daughter for violin lesson.

3:15 p.m. With second daughter go for third daughter at the piano teacher's.

3:30 p.m. Pick up first daughter at her violin teacher's.

"The mother says, 'This may sound pretty hectic, but there was a time when it was worse. Two of the girls used to go to synchronized swimming lessons on Saturday.'

Now, Helen, maybe this is none of my business, but it becomes my concern when I think of our sons might marry one of the girls! Too many activities, no matter how good each one, is too much. Ad school and church (I hope) — and when do they ever have time just to be children — or simply do nothing. That's important too! — Old Fashioned.

Dear O. F.: After typing that letter, I'm to tired to comment. Yours will do! — H.

One More For The "Rude"

Dear Mrs. Bottel: (First-naming is crude!) I was incensed at your saying children would have more fun in play clothes at birthday parties, and saying you like stretch pants. I worked in the public for years. Women get sickening in their dress: shorts, tight pants — no wonder there are so many attacks and insults. They ask for it!

I for one would be very disappointed if I gave my child a party and the children came dressed for play; they should come as little ladies and gentlemen and act accordingly.

Women don't know how to act like ladies because they dress like men... and then they complain because men are dressing like women (with hair and high heels). Well, somebody has to!

A man doesn't want to come home at night and have another man meet him at the door.

I demand that you retract those statements and get some high ideals. I'll try never to read your column again. It gets my blood pressure up. —A Reader

Dear Mrs. Reader: If you read this, you aren't trying hard enough!

Sorry, no retractions. Bottel birthday invitations read, "Wear swim suits, bring towel," and that's the way it's gonna stay! As for stretch pants, I'll concede this much: If you look like a man in them they're not for you.

— H.

Herbert Is Winner in Citrus Open

By DUKE FERGUSON
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Lionel Herbert, $21,000 victor in the $110,000 Florida Citrus Open Golf Tournament, says he owes his biggest pay check of his career to "hard work on my game," and maybe the flu bug. Herbert, who won the 72-hole tournament with a five-under-par 279, said "I've been working very hard on my game, using different techniques and equipment in an effort to improve."

Also, he said after picking up his check, the largest the 38-year-old stocky, handsome Louisianian has won since turning pro in 1950, his victory could have been partly due to the flu. "I came down with the bug Monday," he said, "and took some medication Tuesday."

"I really slept that night and was sleepy through most of the pro-am tournament the next day," he said. "I felt great after that."

However, he finished out of the money in the pro-am event. It was one of the closest tournaments in recent history, according to PGA officials. Only 10 strokes separated the 77 contestants who made the cut after the first 36 holes. Gary Player of South Africa was one of those who failed to make the cut.

Gardner Dickson Jr., of Dothan, Ala., who led through the second and third rounds, suffered back pains Saturday and Sunday.

Dickson finished tied with four others in ninth spot and won $2,800.

A couple of youngsters on the tournament trail, Charles Coody, 28, of Stamford, Tex., and Dick Lytle, 27, of Chula Vista, Calif., tied with early favorite Jack Nicklaus at 231, two strokes behind the leader and three under par. Each collected $8,333.

Sam Snead, who led the first round with a blazing 66, blew up in the second round, shooting a 76 and had subsequent rounds of 70 and 75 for a 287 total, winning $756. Arnold Palmer went four over par at 288 for $592.

Randy Glover, Billy Maxwell, Bob Shave and Mason Rudolph tied at 282 for fifth and collected $4,150 each.

Tied at ninth with Dickinson were John Lutz, Gay Brewer Jr., and Al Besselink.

Hope Track Team Is Improving

By LARRY DON WRIGHT
Hope Star Sports Editor
The Hope Abcat track squad journeyed to Camden Friday to take part in the 4AA Pre-District Track and Field Meet and returned with hope of the best season the Cats have had in years.

The Hope tracksters although crippled by illness and injuries fared far better than expected and proved that they're going to be heard from this spring in 4AA for the first time in a long time.

Despite finishing fourth in the second division of the meet the Cats racked up a total of 62 points. And comparing times of the entire meet including both division they would rank about sixth in the district.

That's without the services of two of their main sprinters. Also District 4AA promises to be one of the strongest conferences in the state this year as some very outstanding performances seen yesterday at Camden.

The State record was broken in the shot put event as Salb of Crossett heaved it a fantastic 60 feet, inches. And in the pole vault Lennox of Camden cleared 14 feet and 6 inches.

For the Bobcats Sprinter Bobby Samuels won the 100 yard dash and the 440 yard dash for Hope with times of 10.5 and 53.0 respectively.

Johnny Lowe broke the school record in the mile run for the third time this season with a time of 503.4.

Hope's mile relay team placed first with a time of 343.5, and should be the terror of the district.

Elsewhere Hope took first in the second heat of the 440 with Eddie Aslin posting a 55.2 quarter. Mike Westbrook took the second heat of the 180 yard low hurdles in a time of 23.8.

The Hope Jr. High Bobkitts made an outstanding performance in their pre-district meet at Smackover placing about third or fourth in comparative times.

The Kittens finished second in their division behind Magnolia with some very notable showings in a number of events. All necessary information was not available on the Jr. High meet but they did do well.

Tuesday will mark the first track meet ever to be held on Hope's new track field. There will be a four team meet including Magnolia, Gurdon, Prescott, and Hope.

Everyone is urged to come out to see some of the action that is store for local fans this season for the first time.

Texas Western Dethrones the Mighty Cats

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Coach Don Haskins felt like lucky "young punk" after his Texas Western Miners won the national collegiate basketball championship.

The 36-year-old Haskins and his underdog Miners had just scored a 72-65 upset over the Old Master, Adolph Rupp, and his Kentucky Wildcats. Duke edged Utah 79-77 for third place.

"It's quite a thrill for me, a kind of young punk," Haskins said. "It's great just playing in a game with Mr. Rupp let alone winning it."

Although both teams entered the title game with identical 27-1 records, Kentucky was an eight-point favorite to win its fifth NCAA championship. No other school has won more than two.

Kentucky was ranked No. 1 in the nation after the regular season and Texas Western was No. 3, with the suspicion that the Miners didn't play too hard a schedule. Haskins disagreed.

"We don't worry about that kind of talk," Haskins said. "We played a lot of good teams before we got here. We played a lot of teams like ourselves... ones without a name."

Texas Western should no longer remain in that category. Since Haskins arrived at the El Paso, Tex., school five years ago, the Miners have won 108 games and lost only 26.

Three times in the past four years, the Miners have received a bid as an independent to play in the NCAA tournament. In 1964, they went to the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

As a former player under Hank Iba at Oklahoma State, Haskins stresses defensive basketball and he contends it was defense which upended Kentucky.

"It was one of the finest defensive games we played all season," Haskins said. "The boys knew Kentucky could shoot exceptionally well and that if they didn't play a fine defensive game, they would wind up second."

Rupp said his Wildcats didn't challenge the defense, but were shooting when the opposing player was still 10 feet away.

"We weren't shooting well and our ball handling wasn't good," Rupp said. "When those two things break down, you're in trouble."

Kentucky closed to within 39-38 early in the second half but Texas Western stretched its advantage to 8-57 and then staved off the Wildcats in the closing minutes.

Ortiz-Bizzaro By Invitation

PITTSBURGH — (NEA) — Don Elbaum always has been a unique boxing promoter.

On those dreary winter nights around Erie, Pa., and Steubenville, Ohio, when one of the prelim boys wouldn't show, Elbaum would climb in the ring, dance around for a few rounds and try his best not to get hit.

One look at his flattened nose attests to his lack of success.

Another time, he devised a bout between Jack McKinney, a Philadelphia boxing writer, and an Ohio professional. He promised McKinney $10 a round. When McKinney won the 4-rounder he collected $40 from Elbaum.

"Five minutes later," McKinney said, "Don comes up to me and asks to borrow $30 because he was broke and had promised to take his wife out to dinner."

Another time, Don was in New York publicizing a heavyweight named Dick Wippenman. He stopped in a newspaper office to talk to the sports editor.

Always stylish, he arrived wearing an expensive black mohair suit, a blue lace shirt and highly polished Italian wing-tipped shoes.

Feeling at home, he propped his feet up on the sports editor's desk. Like Adlai Stevenson, half dollars wouldn't have covered the holes in his shoes.

Next time Don was in town, he called the same newspaperman, who invited him over again.

"I can't come right now," Don said. "Why not?" the newspaperman asked.

"It's snowing," he replied, "and I'm wearing the same pair of shoes."

That's all in the past now. Don Elbaum has gone major league with the most novel championship fight in boxing history.

It matches lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz against challenger Johnny Bizzaro of Erie, Pa., and it will be held in a Pittsburgh night club June 20 with attendance "by invitation only." Dress (the Elbaum touch) is formal.

"We're going to have 750 guests paying $125," Elbaum said. "It will be great. The guest will be met at the door, and escorted to one of five bars we'll have set up for cocktails."

"Then we'll have a gourmet dinner for them with pheasant under glass or something like that. Then we'll have two prelims, the championship bout and a big floor show afterward."

"This will be a boost for boxing. We're going to elevate it to a higher class."

"Let's see, 750 by $125. That comes to $93,750. We had to guarantee Ortiz $50,000 and when he saw the money he liked the idea."

"There wasn't any problem with the state boxing commission. They like the idea, too."

Now Elbaum has to find 750 guests who like the idea.

"No problem," says Don. "No problem at all. People have started calling me already to get on the invitation list. See, this is an 'in' thing and everyone likes to be 'in'."

If one of the prelim boys doesn't show, Don Elbaum may be 'in' too—in the ring.

"Not a chance," says Don. "I said this was class. If that happens, we'll all go out and have another cocktail."

76ers Beat Celtics for Pro Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The end of an era came in the National Basketball Association Sunday. The Philadelphia 76ers beat the Baltimore Bullets 108-104 and snapped the Boston Celtics' hopes for a 10th straight Eastern Division title.

The Celtics whipped the Cincinnati Royals 121-104 in their final regular season game, but it didn't mean anything with Big Wilt Chamberlain leading the 76ers to their 11th straight victory.

Boston finished one game back of Philadelphia with a 34-26 record to 55-25 for the 76ers.

"This is just a down payment on the big one," said Chamberlain who before the game had been named the most valuable player in the NBA. The Big Dipper, who scored 26 points and grabbed 26 rebounds, was referring to the upcoming playoffs that determine the league champion.

For Coach Dolph Schayes, however, "this is the greatest thrill of my life. I feel this team can beat anybody now."

A remarkable spurt of 24 straight points in the third period brought the 76ers from behind a 16-point deficit into the lead at 80-72. The Bullets rallied on their home court to tie at 104-104 in the last minute before two fouls by Gerry Ward and Hal Greer and Lucius Jackson's basket wrapped it up for the 76ers.

"The 76ers won it, we didn't lose it," said Boston Coach Red Auerbach in extending congratulations. He added a warning: "I might point out that now we're playing our best ball of the season. We'll be mighty tough in the playoffs."

The best-of-five semifinal Eastern playoffs open Wednesday with Cincinnati again playing at Boston.

Philadelphia's victory overshadowed the 121-117 road victory of the St. Louis Hawks over the Detroit Pistons, a triumph that earned the Hawks the last playoff spot in the Western Division. The Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division champs, snuffed out San Francisco's last chance by beating the Warriors at home 121-112.

Utah Team Captures the NIT Crown

By MURRY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Rossini had a complaint and at the same time an idea which would have made the championship game of the National Invitation Tournament a little more equitable.

"I think it was unfair for them not to lend me that 6-11 guy sitting down," said Rossini, whose New York University basketball team lost the final to Brigham Young 97-84 Saturday.

Thus, with a joking remark, the Violets' coach pinpointed the reason NYU still doesn't have an NIT championship after eight attempts. Instead Brigham Young has its second.

The reason was 6-foot-11 Craig Raymond, who scored 21 points, hitting on 10 of 14 shots from the field, and snared 18 rebounds. But if he had faltered, Coach Stan Watts had two more 6-11 players on the bench. Each is a half-foot taller than anyone the Violets could have put on the court.

"For years we struggled with a 6-4 center," said Watts after completing his 17th season with the Cougars.

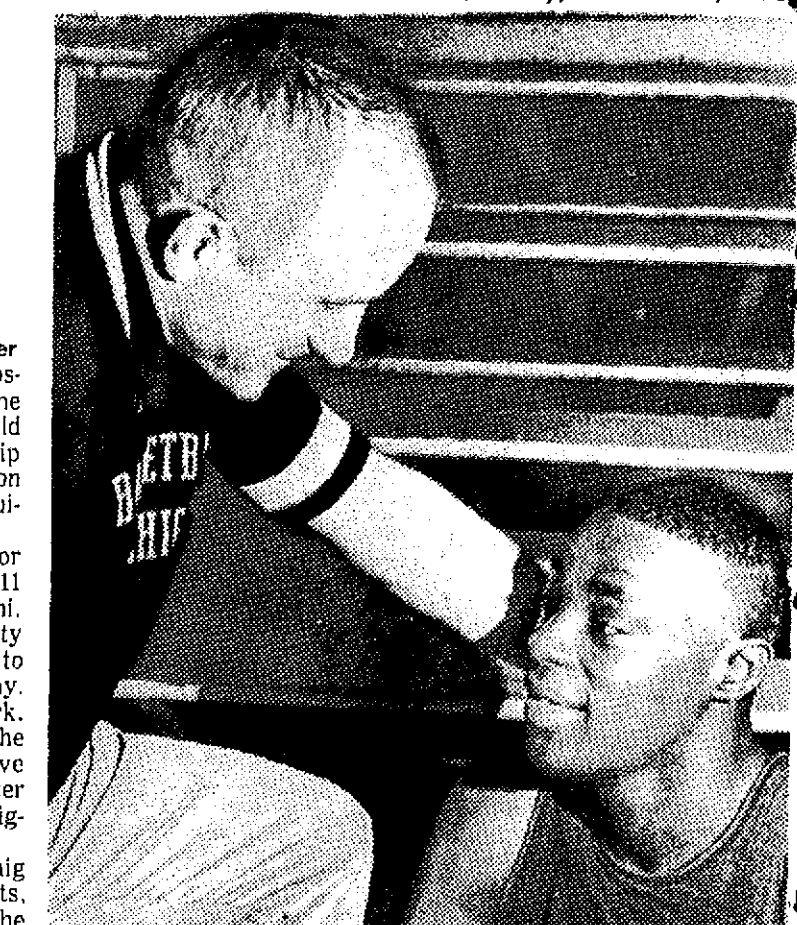

"Then we got the Raymond kid and then the Eakins kid. We had to do a lot of proselytizing to get them. But then this Fisher kid comes in from Canada as a transfer student. It was a complete surprise."

Raymond, from Vancouver, Wash., has another year remaining while Jim Eakins of Sacramento, Calif., and Orville Fisher of Fort Saskatchewan, (Alta.) have two to go.

Raymond played most of the time this season until he encountered two bad games against New Mexico and Wyoming two months ago. Eakins then replaced him until Saturday when Watts decided Raymond was ready for a good game.

The second-place finish for the Violets came after two years in which they lost consolation games to Army by one point. The Cougars first won the NIT in 1951.

Army was in the consolation game again, but this time lost to Villanova 76-65. Villanova's Bill Melchioni scored 29 points, giving him 109 for four games, and was named the tournament's most valuable player.

PLAYER OF THE YEAR—Michigan's Cazzie Russell, talking with basketball coach Dave Strack, was the overwhelming choice for College Basketball Player of the Year with 131 points in the United Press International poll of sports editors, writers and broadcasters. He also is top choice for All-American honors for the second straight year.

Get Started Early; Enjoy More Boating

There's one fast way to increase your family boating fun. Don't wait for the traditional Memorial Day opening to get the season started. Launch early.

Once you kick the "Memorial Day habit" you'll see what good sense early season boating makes. Although temperatures are sometimes cool, you can kick this by dressing properly. It isn't necessary to battle near freezing temperatures, advises the Evinrude News Service, but there are many balmy Spring days when boating is a real pleasure.

Early season launching is just the answer for the over anxious angler, and this description fits just about everyone who owns a fishing rod. In many areas March, April and May provide the hottest action of the year. A good example is the season opening on largemouth and striped bass. These batters start hitting early. Another prize is the walleye when it starts its annual run.

For the angler who enjoys the solitude of a quiet lake, Spring carries a special bonus. While most boatmen are talking about the coming season, you'll be hauling in the big ones.

Cruising enthusiasts will also find that Spring boating was made to order. You'll have your favorite cruising waters all to yourself. No congestion to worry about, just you, a finely tuned outboard purring along and the feeling of Spring all around. Sound good? Well, believe me it is.

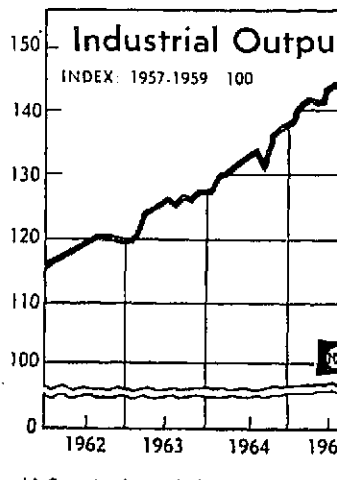

What's true on the water, goes double for the land. Boating-camping buffs won't have to worry about advance reservations, crowded campgrounds and just too many people to really enjoy the feeling of "roughing it."

Most boatmen are camera bugs and this should be standard equipment on any early season adventure. Everything seems to come alive after a long winter's sleep.

Balance Trailer Wheels
Excessive vibration when towing a boat trailer can be traced to poorly balanced trailer wheels, according to the Evinrude News Service. Any automotive service station can balance the wheels correctly.

Anatomy of a Coaching Ulcer

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Pete Peletta stared out the window of his hotel room at the arched roof of Madison Square Garden five blocks up Eighth Avenue.

Then he took a blue bottle from the bureau and gulped down its chalky, white liquid.

"My ulcer," Peletta said "it's bleeding today. This stuff coats my stomach so it won't act up during the game."

In two hours, Peletta, 38, balding, the basketball coach for the University of San Francisco, would send his Dons against Army in the quarter-final round of the National Invitational Tournament at the Garden.

In four hours, Peletta's 16-year coaching career, six with USF, would be over, cut short two games by Army in one of the biggest upsets of the now moribund basketball season.

With the loss, Peletta relinquished head coaching duties to his assistant, Phil Vickrey, to become the school's first full-time athletic director. Peletta had announced at mid-season he was making this season as basketball coach his last.

"It's a funny thing about being a coach," he said before the game. "On one hand the challenge is magnificent. On the other you wonder how so many guys can withstand the pressure of the job year after year."

"My doctor told me a bleeding ulcer is not something you take lightly. But the big reason I'm resigning as coach is because I really want to build a great athletic program at USF."

"Let's just say the ulcer and what caused it, made the decision to give up coaching a little easier. I think every coach must have an ulcer, only most of them don't know it."

"Today when I got up it started acting up right away. I don't know which comes first—the ulcer tells my mind we're in for a rough night, or my mind tells my ulcer. Anyway, I got the message today—Army won't be any pushover."

Earlier, Peletta left the hotel to take a walk and get his mind off the game. He ended up at the Statue of Liberty. As he looked at the Lady, she turned into a "seven-foot-six Army player holding a basketball over his head."

Then it was back to the hotel for the team meeting and then back to the hotel room to read a stack of telegrams and relax. Before leaving for the Garden, Peletta took one more slug from the blue bottle.

"That should do it," he said.

Army, outsized to a man, did the storybook stuff one better. The Cadets shot 72 per cent the first half and 69 per cent for the game.

Peletta tried everything to get back in the game. But Army kept its incredible 20-point lead throughout the second half and won, 80-63.

Afterwards, Peletta tossed a crumpled, rolled-up program into the waste can. The edges of the program had been heavily chewed.

"That's the thing about this game," Peletta said. "You just never know. Funny how my last game turns out to be one of my most frustrating."

We accepted the NIT bid, first, because I wanted to reward our seniors for working hard, and second, I honestly felt we had a real good shot at winning the thing and that would be a great way to end a 16-year coaching career.

The San Francisco players were solemn, of course. But as Peletta answered questions about how great Army had been, his disappointment ebbed and the tension died. He even smiled.

"Well, it's over," he said. "The thing I'm proudest of? Every kid I ever coached graduated, and that alone makes the ulcer worth it."

SEX IN THE SOVIET UNION

Old New

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Who said capitalism is not subverting the Communist world? Under the influence of the "decadent West" even the ideal Marxist-Leninist image of the typical woman is undergoing a radical, if somewhat agonizing, change.

For years a completely charmless image of a woman was depicted in Communist paintings, magazines and newspapers. She was usually shown as a "working girl" attired in overalls, a shapeless cotton jacket and heavy working shoes.

Dennen

Occasionally a maternal bosom was outlined beneath the cotton-padded jacket. This underscored the Marxist-Leninist concept of the female as mother. But her figure, alas, was always concealed and her legs covered.

Sex was officially scorned in the Communist world because it prevented "clear political thinking." A Red publication said, only two years ago, that "the sex wave was invented by vengeful capitalists to keep the population of their countries from discussing vital questions," such as Viet Nam and the fight against a nuclear war.

However, new capitalistic winds are blowing behind the Iron Curtain. Moscow just created a beauty institute, employing several hundred experts, for the sole purpose of making Russian women prettier.

The Kremlin rulers have also decided that the "new" Communist woman, who usually works a long and exhausting day on the job and at home, is overburdened by child-bearing.

For this reason—and also because Russia, like the rest of the world, is facing a food shortage due to the population explosion—the Soviet leaders have finally abandoned their traditional opposition to birth control.

In one of the greatest ideological leaps forward yet made, an article in Moscow's Literary Gazette suddenly discovered that the "great Lenin himself believed in planned families."

As usual in the Red world, what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. As soon as Moscow decided that henceforth the Communist woman must be beautiful and desirable, Russia's satellites in East Europe were not slow to follow the leader. This is true of Communist East Germany, the most servile of Moscow's satellites.

Like the illustrated magazines in Russia, Poland, Hungary and Romania, East German publications have discovered that women have bosoms and legs and that a slender waist or a well-rounded figure can be a pleasing sight.

Even such die-hard Marxist-Leninist newspapers as Der Morgen are beginning to feature beauties in bikinis or semi-nudity provided, of course, they are shown in sports poses. Pictures of young men embracing or kissing girls are no longer a rarity.

East Germany's official army newspaper, Die Volksarmee, recently had a lively discussion on beauty and the female.

"A woman is no good unless she is sexy," one young soldier wrote in a letter to the editor of Die Volksarmee. "The eye has to be satisfied first," another soldier said.

In answer to a question from the editor why he loved his wife, one soldier even replied: "Because she has beautiful legs."

To be sure, the rulers behind the Iron Curtain constantly warn the young to "think of socialist society and not of their private lives." People who become involved in love affairs "slow down the building of communism."

But they are fighting a lost battle. Young men and women, even in the materialistic Marxist-Leninist society, have become infected by the capitalist love virus.

They laugh at their Communist mentors and at their theories that sex was invented by vengeful capitalists.

Scooters With Punch for Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago's Scooter Line, temporarily shut down when the Black Hawks were traveling extensively by Jet, is back in business.

The Scooters — Stan Mikita, Ken Wharram and Doug Mohns — provided the punch Sunday night as the Black Hawks defeated Montreal 4-2, trimming the Canadiens' National Hockey League lead to one point.

The Mikita-Wharram-Mohns unit, rebounding in recent weeks by the record-breaking scoring of teammate Bobby (G'd'n Jet) Hull, clicked for three goals against Montreal as the Hawks rebounded from Saturday's 4-2 loss to Toronto in their drive for an initial NHL regular season title.

Detroit whipped Toronto 6-1 behind rookie goalender George Gardner and Boston held off New York 4-3 in Sunday night's other games.

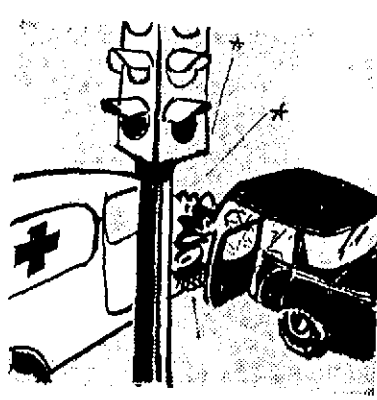

"The Light Was Green"

At busy corners all over the country stand familiar machines, designed to help automate justice. We call them traffic signals, and they deliver a clear and simple rule of law: green means go, red means stop.

Unhappily, justice is far too complicated for total automation. The signals do help, but they cannot give a final answer. In fact, they are sometimes no more than a starting point in the process of telling right from wrong.

For example: A motorist, sued for knocking down a pedestrian, offered this defense in court:

"The light was green when I entered the intersection, so I had a right to go through."

But the pedestrian too had started across lawfully, on a green light. The motorist was held liable for relying blindly on the signal, not giving the pedestrian a fair chance to complete his crossing. As one judge phrased it:

"A green light is not a command to go, but only a limited permission."

In another case a motorist was held negligent, again in spite of a green light, for colliding with an ambulance. Evidence showed that the ambulance had its siren on, that others heard it plainly, and that the motorist's window was down and his radio off.

Nor does a green light, beckoning in the distance, justify bad driving in an effort to get there before it changes.

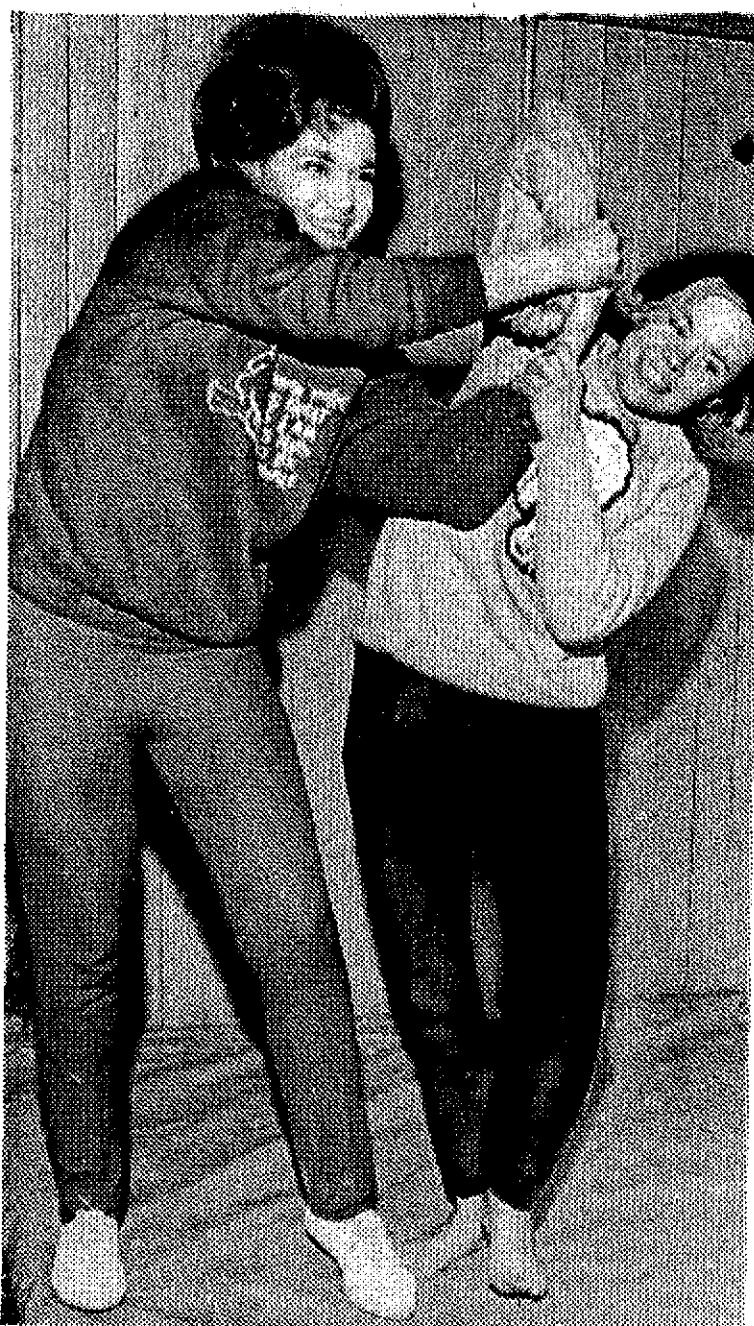

One motorist, with that in mind, crowded close behind the car ahead of him. When the light changed to amber, the front car was able to make a proper stop. But the following motorist could not. Result: a bad crash, for which the impatient driver was duly held liable.

Just as green doesn't always mean go, neither does red always mean stop. For instance, emergency vehicles are often given the right by local law to go through a red light.

Yet even this special right is not clear-cut. Thus it was held negligent for an ambulance driver to race through a red light at a dangerous corner, without sounding his siren, when there was no medical need for haste.

The court held that even an ambulance must respect the one bedrock rule that underlies all the rest: SAFETY FIRST.

Tickets for Banquet Are Now on Sale

Tickets are now on sale for Hope High School's first annual All-Sports Banquet which is to be at the Coliseum Friday night. Sale of tickets for the occasion is going very slowly even though the event is open to the public.

Coach Johnny Majors, Assistant Football Coach at the University of Arkansas, is to be the guest speaker at the banquet.

All athletes from the Hope High football, basketball, track and golf departments will be recognized as well as coaches, cheerleaders, and Bobettes.

In the past the banquet has been for the football team only and no other such affair was planned for the athletes from the other sports. Also this is the first year for the banquet to be open to anyone other than the players, their dates, and a few school officials.

Price of the tickets is $2 each and can be purchased from a Hope High athlete or at Roy Anderson's Insurance Agency.

There is to be a dance in honor of the athletes after the banquet with music being provided by the "Prisms" a group from Waldo.

Sees Need for Shooting Range

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — City Manager Robert Tinsman has under consideration today a suggestion by Mayor George Shirk that a city-operated shooting range be established.

Shirk, concerned about many bullet-punctured road signs, observed that public dragstrips had reduced car racing on city streets and reasoned that a shooting range might reduce the use of road signs as targets.

Hope Officially Opens Its New Track Tuesday

By LARRY DON WRIGHT
Hope Star Sports Writer

Hope High School's new track field will be officially broken in Tuesday afternoon as it will be the site of a four way meet among Hope, Magnolia, Prescott and Gurdon.

It will be the first meet on the new field which was completed during the winter. Also it will be the first meet in Hope in almost two years.

The Bobcats could pull out a win in their first home stand if they can get past Magnolia who outscored them in the 4AA Pre-District meet in Camden last Friday.

This spring's track hopes at Hope lie heavily on the shoulders of a few boys and it will probably be several years before a Bobcat track squad will have every much depth.

The Cats are strong in the 100 yard dash, the 440, and the 220 where they utilize the services of Bobby Samuels. They will also rely on the performance of the mile relay team for important points.

The Jr. High Squad may very well walk away with their division of Tuesday's meet as they have shown up well in every outing this season.

All in all the meet Tuesday afternoon should give local fans a sample of what to expect from the Hope thin clad this spring.

Poll Places Wilson Group Out in Front

LONDON (AP) —With Britain's general election 10 days away, bread and butter issues are commanding the attention of most voters. But the response to the barnstorming politicians has been generally apathetic.

The public opinion polls put Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party far out front.

The Conservatives, led by Edward Heath, say their soundings tell a different story. They contend that in marginal districts—the evenly balanced areas where the majority in the next House of Commons will be decided—Labor's advantage is far less marked than the polls suggest on a national scale.

No one has any illusions that the outcome will have any great impact on the outside world. The 54 million Britons have come to accept that they no longer are a major world power.

The welfare state created after World War II is here to stay. This is pegged to one of the most liberal health plans in the world, nationalized coal mines, road transport, airlines and electricity.

Both Wilson's socialistic Labor party, which has ruled since October 1964, and the Conservatives, who were in power for 13 years before that, go along with these programs.

One change the Tories favor is a small fee for medical prescriptions that are now free. And they want to put a stop to any further nationalization.

Wilson for the past 17 months operated with a majority of only one to three seats in the 630-member House of Commons. The slim margin forced him to go slow on some issues—chiefly the nationalization of the steel industry.

The small Liberal party, seeking to gain the balance of power in the new Parliament, has made it's biggest campaign plank a warning that more sweeping nationalization is in prospect if the Laborites get a big majority.

Spring Reverie 'Lord Jim' Great Picture

This is the season when boatmen are checking their rigs — and Spring reverie calls to mind some of the laughs you have had on fishing jaunts in the past. Several seasons ago when I had a boat on Lake Ouachita I was a regular customer of the Mt. Ida Cafe, owned by Sol Swindle and his son Dale.

Sol's brother was in the lumber business at Mt. Ida, and Sol wasn't above giving his brother a free advertising plug before his restaurant crowd. Behind the sandwich bar there was a big sign:

"Barefoot Lumber Co. — Another Swindle Enterprise" — That sign was known from coast to coast. But the last time I stopped at the Mt. Ida Cafe the sign was missing. I asked Sol about it, and his crisp reply was:

"I've been swindled — somebody stole the sign!"

But I'm counting on Sol's maintaining Arkansas' reputation for being unusual and putting that sign back for all to see.

One of the great books in the English language is Joseph Conrad's "Lord Jim" — the classic about a man who lost the first time and asked for, and got, a second chance.

It's been done before in the movies, but the newest and best of the "Lord Jim" films opened Sunday at Hope's Saenger. This one has Peter O'Toole in the title role. It was my first time to see O'Toole, originally starred in "Lawrence of Arabia," a picture not yet shown here — and he handles the story as though Conrad had written it especially for him.

The Conrad story is old-fashioned in that it has a hero with admirable though human qualities who meets great misfortune but manfully overcomes it. It is an exciting tale well told in a beautiful setting.

Jim, his captain and fellow officers are convicted by a maritime court of abandoning their supposedly sinking ship and its native passengers in the China Sea. His sea career ruined, Jim turns to common labor around the docks, eventually becoming the trusted lieutenant of a white trader. Fate sends him up a river with a load of guns for an Indonesian prince seeking to overthrow a white tyrant. In the guerrilla war Jim is charged with the safety of the prince's son, but the son is killed — and Jim shows up before the prince to pay his forfeit.

The seascapes and Indonesian jungle scenes are magnificent.

LBJ Would Protect Consumers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asks Congress today for legislation to protect consumers.

The President had indicated that a request for approval of so-called truth-in-lending and truth-in-packaging bills will be included in the special message due to go to Capitol Hill at noon.

Few specifics about Johnson's consumer requests have been disclosed, but the President told the nation in his State of the Union address last January that:

"We must... act to prevent the deception of the American consumer — requiring all packages to state clearly and truthfully their contents — all interest and credit charges to be fully revealed — and keeping harmful drugs and cosmetics away from our stores."

Before the present session of Congress convened, Johnson announced that 23 of his legislative requests the 1965 Congress failed to approve would have top priority during the 1966 session.

These included, the President said, truth-in-lending and packaging bills.

In his current report to Congress sent up early in the 195 session, Johnson urged adoption of legislation regulating the packaging of consumer items.

He said housewives are entitled to "frank honest information" concerning quantity, quality and prices.

The President also included a plug for a bill introduced by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., which would require that the cost of all consumer credit be stated in terms of simple annual interest rates.

Three Persons Drowned Near Millwood Dam

Three persons drowned Sunday when a 10-foot boat swamped in deep waters of Millwood Reservoir west of Hope.

Sheriff Jimmie Griffin said the dead were McDuffie Johnson, 42, his daughter-in-law Linda Johnson 19, and his daughter, Clara Johnson 17, all of Saratoga.

The Sheriff said the boat swamped in waters over the old bed of Baird's Lake, which is deeper than the river level of the reservoir.

All three bodies were recovered through efforts of about 20 rescue workers from the Sheriff's department of Little River, Howard and Hempstead counties, directed by Sheriff Griffin and State Police Lt. Guy Downing.

Spring starts soggy for the northern Great Plains and western Great Lakes. Normal conditions will prevail elsewhere except for scattered dry patches.

Youth Center Elects New Officers

In an organizational meeting at the Hope Youth Center on Tuesday, March 15, the following officers were elected for the 1966 season: Vic Massanelli, President; E. P. Young, Jr., Vice President and Ralph Harrison, Sec. - Treasurer. Massanelli and Harrison were repeated elects from last year because of the excellent job that they did in administering league affairs.

Young has previously held an office in Little League and has also had extensive experience in managing teams. Parents and fans are urged to support these elected officials for the coming season. Their jobs aren't easy and they face any difficult decisions throughout a baseball season. If you have never worked within a Little League program please stop and think before you criticize any League official. Someone has to win and someone has to lose. These officers are only concerned with seeing that every boy has an opportunity to play.

Tryouts for 9 and 10 year olds will be held at K-Park on April 18 at 8:00 p.m., with 11 and 12 year olds trying out on the 19th at the same time.

The Player draft will be held on April 21st at 7 p.m. and the team rosters will be announced the following day.

The League schedule will begin on May 24th at 6 p.m.

The week of June 19-25 will be set aside, with no games being scheduled, so that all Boy Scouts participating in Baseball may attend Summer Camp.

Faubus Says He'll End Speculation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus has promised to end speculation today whether he will: 1. seek a seventh term, 2. head the federal Ozark development program or 3. retire.

The most persistent report is that he will seek re-election.

Faubus said in a taped interview over television station WMCT at Memphis Sunday that he would announce his political intentions "no later than Monday."

The announcement conceivably could come Monday night at a swank dinner being given by Cliff Carter, treasurer of the National Committee and long-time aide to President Johnson.

Mrs. Jack Carnes, Democratic national committeewoman for Arkansas, said that Faubus and a long list of prominent party officials and workers are to attend the dinner which she is giving.

Don Knotts' Wife Wins a Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Kathryn Knotts, who charged that her husband's behavior made her upset and nervous, won a divorce in Los Angeles Thursday from Don Knotts, the actor who achieved fame as a nervous sidekick of Steve Allen.

The wife testified that the comedian, 41, stayed out at night and sometimes was gone for two or three days at a time.

The husband agreed to a settlement of $250,000 based on his salary of $180,000 a year.

The couple, who has two children, was married in Wheeling, W. Va., in 1947.

City Warns Dogs at Large to Be Taken

The City officials have decided to take some action in removing stray dogs from the community and insuring that all dogs running at large have been vaccinated for rabies and properly identified.

Just what action will be taken may depend on the report of a committee of three persons recently appointed by Mayor Jack Gardner to look into the existing laws and make a recommendation to the City Board on the extent of control that should be established.

There is an ordinance, prepared in 1940, which provides that all dogs should be vaccinated and registered with the City. Under this ordinance, there is no charge for the registration, but any dog running at large had to carry identification so the owner could be located and evidence of a current vaccination.

The law has never been rigidly enforced. The Police make an effort to remove stray dogs but many family pets are running at large without any identification which makes it difficult to determine what is a stray dog.

The Mayor says that the control of dogs is always a sensitive thing, since there are many different ideas about what control should be exercised. He says, however, that there are so many complaints about dogs running at large that some positive plan of control must be adopted.

The City has recently built a good animal pen at Fair Park. Some of the city employees jokingly referred to it as a "Canine Country Club." It is a nice pen, however, and provides a method of holding dogs that are picked up.

The Board of City Directors say that an intensive program of removing strays and securing compliance with the vaccination law will be started as soon as the present study is completed and the public notified of how the control will be operated.

Trouble Found, Astronauts to Visit Homes

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With the cause of their wild space ride traced to a short circuit, the Gemini 8 astronauts complete a debriefing period here today and fly home to a reunion with their families.

Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott leave aboard a jet plane for the 2½-hour trip to the Manned Spacecraft center in Houston.

They flew to Cape Kennedy Saturday from the Pacific, where they splashed down Wednesday night in the first emergency landing in the U.S. man-in-space program.

While here, Armstrong and Scott thuddled with experts, discussing performance of spacecraft systems during the flight that came to a sudden end after the astronauts had executed man's first hookup with another satellite.

Judgment for Land Meets Approval

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court affirmed today a $32,250 judgment for 12.85 acres of land taken for Interstate 40 in Faulkner County.

The judgment was in favor of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Potts who contended their land was quite valuable because it was near the town of Mayflower and suitable for residential development.

The Highway Commission argued that the land was not being developed and residential value should not have been considered.

Cost of land in Faulkner County became controversial last year when Highway Director Mack Sturgis stopped work on Interstate 40, claiming that jury awards for condemned land in Faulkner County were excessive.

The dispute finally was ironed out and work resumed.

The Supreme Court ordered a new trial in a Union County case in which the El Dorado Real Estate Co. was denied a $2,625 balance of a $3,300 commission for handling a land transaction for A. B. Garrett.

The trial court held that the company was not entitled to a commission because the sale was not actually consummated. The Supreme Court said the company's agent, Mrs. Annie Dickinson, earned the commission because she presented data buyer who made a firm offer but Garrett refused to sale because of a dispute over a timber clause in the purchase contract.

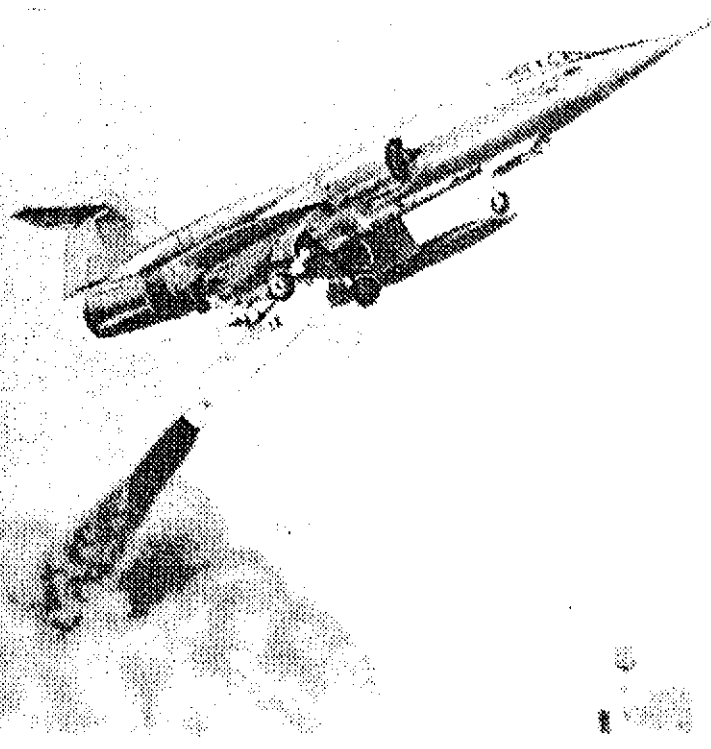

In other case, the Supreme Court: — Affirmed a Clark Circuit Court verdict that Dr. and Mrs. P. R. Anderson of Arkadelphia were not entitled to recover from the West Bend Co. $8,000 damages to their home resulting from a fire started in a skillet manufactured by the company.

— Ordered a new trial of a Garland County case in which Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Howard were awarded a $3,500 judgment for 2m08 acres of land condemned by Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. for a natural gas pipeline. The Supreme Court said the trial court should not have permitted testimony about value of the land as a subdivision when a subdivision did not legally exist.

— Affirmed a Pulaski Circuit Court order granting a new trial for A. J. Bass and Horace Taylor, losers in a suit against the Oklahoma Tire and Supply Co. and one of its truck drivers, Doyle Watts, for damages to the Bass and Taylor cars when they collided after Taylor testified, Taylor swerved to avoid a collision with the truck.

The Supreme Court said the trial court erred in instructing the jury that the burden of showing that the accident was not unavoidable was on Bass and Taylor and that they were entitled to a new trial.

— Affirmed a Jackson Circuit Court decision quieting the title of Mrs. June Williams in sum disputed property under the adverse possession law.

NO RUNWAY — A solid-fuel rocket belching thick smoke hurtles an F-104 Starfighter into the air without benefit of runway in a ZELL (Zero Length Launch) take-off test at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. Tests on the technique, secret until now, have been conducted by Lockheed-California Co. under contract with the West German air force. The 1500-m.p.h. fighter can take off from launch pads in forward areas, jettison the rocket motor, carry out a mission and return to a rear air base for landing.

Man Killed in Accident Near Prescott

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons met death in accidents on Arkansas highways during the past weekend.

Five fatal accidents were reported during the weekend count of the Associated Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Two persons were killed Sunday. State Police said Bruce D. McBride, 22, of Texarkana, died when the car he was driving failed to negotiate a curve on U.S. 67 about five miles south of Prescott and collided with a tractor trailer rig loaded with steel pipe.

Leroy Willis, 59, of Forrest City, drowned Sunday after his pickup truck left a county road near Forrest City and overturned in a ditch, officers said.

Dale Moore, 34, of Memphis, died in the collision of two cars on U.S. 63 about three miles south of Mammoth Spring Saturday and Rogers Lee Mays, 39, of Memphis died in a four-car smashup on Interstate 55 about four miles east of West Memphis.

Two persons were killed in a head-on collision 10 miles north of Sheridan on U.S. 167 Friday night.

Officers said they were Frank Jenkins, 39, of Hamburg, and Van Gatlin, 28, of Prattville in Grant County.

Indonesian Army Holds Back Airforce

By JOHN CANTWELL
SINGAPORE (AP) — The Indonesian army has cracked down on the air force to prevent any attempt by the air force to overthrow the new military regime, it was reported here today.

Travelers from Jakarta reported that the army arrested the former air force chief, Air Vice Marshal Suryadarma, last Friday. He was considered a Communist, the reports said.

Army troops occupied all airports over the weekend, slashing aircraft tires and removing vital parts from plane engines to prevent their use against the 10-day-old regime of army chief Lt. Gen. Suharto, the reports added.

Suryadarma was chief of the air force from its organization during the Indonesian revolution against the Dutch until January 1962, when he was replaced by Air Vice Marshal Omar Dhanal. Suryadarma later was made telecommunications minister in President Sukarno's Cabinet.

Dhanal was implicated in the attempted coup last October and reportedly fled to Cambodia. Air force bases reportedly were used as bases for some of the young Communists who were armed and trained in preparation for the coup attempt.

Fulbright Urges U.S. to Help Get China Into UN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the United States should drop its opposition to Communist China's admission to the United Nations and move toward "opening up communications" with Peking.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the United States has had "a frozen attitude" toward Red China. "Someone has to take the steps to try to break this down to where communications can be established," he said.

"We should withdraw our opposition to the seating of China," Fulbright said. But he added: "It may be too much for this administration, just before an election, to take that drastic step."

Fulbright gave his opinions on the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Reporters Roundup" radio program. Views similar to Fulbright's were expressed by 198 students of Asian affairs. In a policy statement, they called for U.N. membership for Red China, negotiations on the exchange of diplomatic representatives and an end to the trade embargo against mainland China.

The 198 represented most of those who responded to a policy statement mailed to 2,700 members of the Association for Asian Studies.

Adm. Ulysses S. Grant Sharp, commander of U. S. military forces in the Pacific, said the Chinese Communist have avoided the risk of a direct right with the United States.

In an interview in the U. S. News & World Report, Sharp said the United States "certainly ought to be prepared for anything," but added: "I don't believe that the Chinese are ready or really desire to take us on, or that we are itching on our part to have them do it."

Sharp said the Viet Nam war certainly can be won. He expressed doubt that the war is leading the United States toward a direct clash with Red China. "I think there may be some cool head in Communist China, too," he said.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation" that the United States has continued its attempt to bring Hanoi and Red China into negotiations on Viet Nam "but the difficulty is the other side keeps hanging up the phone."

Obscenity Ruling by High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that publications designed entirely to appeal to "prurient interests" are not protected by the constitutional guarantee of freedom of expression.

With this ruling, delivered by Justice William J. Brennan, the court upheld a five-year prison term for Eros magazine publisher Ralph Ginzburg under a federal obscenity law.

Brennan said Ginzburg's conviction for mailing Eros and two other publications stand under the court's 9-year-old obscenity standard, known as the Roth ruling.
